Student Responsibility: JCCC reserves the right to cancel, combine or change the time, day, location or instructor of any class without obligation. Check your JCCC email regularly for emails regarding changes to your schedule and other official College communications. By registering for classes at JCCC, you agree to assume financial responsibility for all charges billed to your student account. In order to avoid financial responsibility, if you decide not to attend a class, you must officially drop that class within the stated refund periods. Be aware that dropping classes may reduce your eligibility for financial aid, resulting in debt owed by you. DO NOT assume you will be dropped automatically if you do not pay your tuition or if you do not attend class. Courses not dropped will be graded. For more information, refer to the Student Financial Responsibility Statement at jccc.edu.
